

Name _____

Adjective Clause Combiners

Directions: An adjective clause is a group of words with a subject and verb that describes a noun. It usually begins with who, whom, whose, which, or that. Combine each pair of sentences below into one sentence using an adjective clause. Below is an example.

- Original: The teacher is very kind. She helps everyone.
- Combined: The teacher, who helps everyone, is very kind.

1. The boy is my neighbor. He wears a red hat.

2. The movie was exciting. It won three awards.

3. The woman lives next door. She is a doctor.

4. I read a story. The story was about dragons.

5. The park is beautiful. It has tall oak trees.

6. The athlete trained hard. He won the gold medal.

7. The book is on the shelf. You gave me the book.

8. The car is expensive. It was built in Germany.