

An indirect object tells to whom or for whom the action is done. In a diagram, the indirect object is written under the verb on a slanted line, while the direct object stays on the main line.

Diagram: Teacher | gave | homework
 \students

1. Mom baked us cookies.
2. The coach gave the team instructions.
3. The librarian showed the children books.
4. My friend sent me a letter.
5. The waiter offered the guests dessert.

1. The teacher handed _____ the papers.
2. The singer sang _____ a song.
3. The author told _____ a story.