Teacher's Guide

- Use real objects like a cup of soil and a spoon to act out the steps before students complete the sort.
- For support, reread the story aloud and pause after each sentence to ask what happened first, next, or last.
- For advanced learners, have students write their own three step story using first, next, and last.
- Increase engagement by letting students stand up and move to signs labeled first, next, and last as you read events.
- Extension idea: connect this activity to a real classroom plant growth project and sequence the steps over several days.
