"The Lost Kite"

The wind was strong, and the red kite flew high in the sky. My brother said, "Can you hold the string while I run?" I did, but the kite went higher than we thought it could. They ran across the field, laughing as the kite danced. The wind was wild, and soon the string slipped from my hand.

"You have to catch it!" my brother said. We chased it until the kite landed near the big tree. "You did it!" I said. "Here it is—our kite is safe again!"
