The Missing Middle

Directions: Read the beginning and ending of the story. Write the middle part that connects them in a clear and logical way. Make sure your middle explains how the story gets from the beginning to the ending.

Beginning: Jada found a small wooden box buried under the sand by the playground slide. She brushed it off and wondered what might be inside.

Middle:

Ending: Jada stood proudly in front of her classmates as they clapped for her discovery during Show and Tell.
