Big Idea Headlines

Good headlines act like summaries. They capture the main idea of a passage in just a few words. A strong headline is short (no extra details), catchy (grabs attention), and clear (tells the big idea).

Directions: Read the passages below. Write a newspaper-style headline (5-8 words) for each.

Passage 1: The School Garden

Students at Lincoln Elementary worked together to plant a school garden. They grew tomatoes, carrots, and lettuce, watering and weeding every week. When the vegetables were ready, the class held a salad party to celebrate their hard work and share healthy food with teachers and families.

Passage 3: The Science Fair

Every spring, the middle school gym transforms into a science fair filled with colorful displays. Students show off experiments about volcanoes, solar power, and robots. Parents and teachers walk around asking questions, and judges hand out ribbons to the most creative projects. The fair always inspires students to keep exploring science.
