Directions: Read the passage. Write a summary in exactly twenty words that captures only the most important ideas.

The empty lot at the corner of Pine Street had been filled with weeds and broken glass for years. One spring, a group of neighbors decided to clean it up together. They pulled weeds, planted vegetables, and built small wooden garden beds. Some neighbors donated seeds, while others brought tools and water. By summer, tomatoes, peppers, and herbs covered the space. The garden became a place where families shared food, students learned about plants, and the neighborhood gathered with pride.
