Teacher's Guide

- Quick implementation: Review that students add the shift length to find a missing clock-out time and subtract it to find a missing clock-in time.
- Differentiation: Let students use timelines or analog clock models to break each calculation into hours and minutes.
- Differentiation: Begin with whole-hour shifts before students complete the mixed hours-and-minutes problems.
- Engagement: Tell students they are payroll detectives repairing incomplete employee timecards.
- Extension: Have students verify each answer by calculating the elapsed time between the completed clock-in and clock-out times.
