Teacher's Guide

- Quick implementation: Model one problem by finding the full elapsed shift time first, then subtracting the unpaid break.
- Differentiation: Allow students to use a clock or timeline to separate each shift into hours and minutes.
- Differentiation: Provide the elapsed shift time for students who need support so they can focus on break deduction.
- Engagement: Have students act as payroll clerks checking employee timecards before payroll is processed.
- Extension: Ask students to convert each actual time worked into total minutes or decimal hours.
