Teacher's Guide

- Review the difference between a character action and a character motivation before students begin.
- Ask students to underline words in the passage that explain why a character does something.
- For support, read each claim aloud and discuss which part focuses on action or on reason.
- For engagement, have students act out one true and one false claim with a partner.
- For extension, ask students to write one new true claim and one new false claim about Talia or Marcus.
- For enrichment, challenge students to explain how changing one key word can shift a statement from true to false.
