Teacher's Guide

- Review the difference between a fact and an opinion or bias before students begin.
- Have students point to wording in the passage that proves something is factual.
- For support, look for clue words such as best, perfect, or strong feelings that signal bias.
- For engagement, let students defend one answer using a sentence from the passage.
- For extension, have students rewrite one opinion as a clear fact.
- For enrichment, challenge students to add one new biased statement and one new factual statement about the skate park.
