Teacher's Guide

- Introduce the idea of landmarks and discuss how clues can describe shape, location, history, or purpose.
- Read each clue aloud and model how to underline key details such as carved faces or tall towers.

Differentiation Tips

- Provide a list of possible landmarks for students who need additional support.
- Offer picture cards of landmarks for visual learners.
- Challenge advanced learners to write one extra clue for any landmark in the activity.

Engagement Ideas

- Turn the clues into a class guessing game where students raise hands when they think they know the landmark.
- Create a classroom map and place small labels or drawings where each landmark is found.

Extension Activities

- Assign a short research project where students choose one landmark and write its history and purpose.
- Have students create their own riddle-style clue for a different U.S. landmark to trade with a partner.
