Who's Talking Now

Directions: Read the informal dialogue between two friends below. It is filled with incorrect uses of who and whom. Rewrite the conversation in formal English by correcting the pronoun errors while keeping the meaning the same.

Liam: Hey, guess who I saw at the library yesterday?

Ava: No clue. Who did you talk to?

Liam: I talked to the new student who everyone keeps whispering about.

Ava: Oh, the one who you said was from another country?

Liam: Yeah! I couldn't remember who the teacher introduced her to.

Ava: To who did she give that science book?

Liam: Not sure. She asked who should help her carry her bag.

Ava: Maybe she'll tell you who she's working with on the project.

Liam: If only I knew who she trusted enough to partner with.

Your Task: Rewrite the entire conversation, fixing all errors with who and whom. Keep it clear, natural, and grammatically correct.
