6. YES

Teacher's Guide

- Review what YES and NO mean before students begin.
- Model the first question by rereading the matching sentence from the passage aloud.
- Encourage students to point to the sentence in the text that helped them decide.
- For support, allow students to work with a partner and whisper read the passage together.
- For extension, have students write one new Yes or No question about Pip and exchange with a classmate.
- For engagement, let students use crayons or colored pencils to fill in the bubbles clearly.
