Teacher's Guide

- This worksheet builds two skills at once: identifying final consonant blends (-nd) and applying early reading comprehension.
- Model one example by reading a sentence aloud and letting students listen for the ending blend before they begin the activity.
- For differentiation, provide a word list from the story and let emerging readers highlight the -nd endings before circling them in context.
- For extension, have students write a new short sentence using two different -nd words or draw the scene described in the story and label the -nd items they notice.
