Teacher's Guide

- Encourage students to run a finger under each part slowly. Remind them to say the onset first, then blend it smoothly with -st.
- Model blending with one example, such as saying be then adding st to make best.
- For students who need extra help, provide picture clues or have them tap each sound before blending.
- For students ready to extend, invite them to write simple sentences using two or more of the -st words or create additional onset strips to blend independently.
